Saying goodbye to your favorite furry friend is never easy, but books like God Needed a Puppy help make the process a little bit easier. This hardcover book helps children answer the question "why?" after losing a pet. This story was created to guide them through the grieving process with the help of friendly characters like Edgar the Owl and Freddy the Fox. They help comfort youngsters by letting them know this moment of sadness won't last forever and that someday there may even be other furry companions who will enter their lives and bring them the same joy as their past loved ones. This touching novel can serve as the helping hand children and even adults need during challenging times.
